

From: Jeremy J. Nelson
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/24/02 11:00am
Subject: Comments

United States Department of Justice;

The anti-trust case against Microsoft is wrong. Consumer choice has put Microsoft where it is today. If a consumer does not want Microsoft products they don't have to buy them. If it is packaged on a computer then they can choose to buy a different computer. The computer manufacturers are installing Microsoft operating systems because that is what the consumers want and if they don't they will lose sales.

No one has a right to tell Microsoft what they can and can not put into any of their proprietary products.

No one is forcing any consumers to buy Microsoft products at the point of a gun. I have run Windows, converted to Linux and now I am running on Mac OS X...because I chose to.

Best Regards,

Jeremy J. Nelson

CEO/Founder Intahnet
224 Witchtrot Road
South Berwick, ME 03908

web: www.intahnet.com e-mail: jnelson@intahnet.com
phone: 207.384.4736

=====
This email and any files transmitted with it are confidential and intended solely for the use of the individual or entity to whom they are addressed.

If you have received this email in error please notify the sender.

Please

note that any views or opinions presented in this email are solely those of the author and do not necessarily represent those of the originating company. The recipient should check this email and any attachments for the presence of viruses. The originating company accepts no liability for any damage caused by any virus transmitted by this email.

=====

